Study Shows Brain Activity Similar to EEG Representation of the Whole Research Brain: Near-Death Research of Dr. Pim van Lommel (After Death - What Do We Know?) Dr. Pim van Lommel's research on the Near-Death Experience (NDE) is well-known and highly regarded by patient researchers. In talking about his research, he says that the NDE is a phenomenon that is not dependent on the brain, but that it is a phenomenon that is dependent on consciousness and that it is a phenomenon that is independent of time and space. Dr. van Lommel and his colleagues have published a study in the medical journal The Lancet in 2001 on this topic. In this study, they showed that the brain activity of a patient who had a Near-Death Experience was similar to the brain activity of a person who was in a coma. (Read more)

"Life Is No Coincidence: The Life And Afterlife Connection"

by Sheryl Glick (Availability: Now)

Share Sheryl Glick's journey from no belief in eternity; through a visit from her deceased grandfather; to understanding that afterlife is real ... and "coincidences" are life's signposts. Sheryl writes, "I am very ill. I sense my deceased grandfather's presence. He is trying to tell me something. Am I about to die? Has he come for me? I shout into the dark, "I cannot hear you!" He tells me I must write something for my father. Thirty-six hours later, I learn my father just passed away. I am to write his eulogy." That visitation opened wide swaths of understanding for author, Sheryl Glick. She ultimately learned we all have the ability to communicate with our guides … spirits of loved ones, guardian angels, saints, or just "coincidences" that show us the way. [Read more]

"When a distinguished but elderly scientist states that something is possible he is almost certainly right. When he states that something is impossible, he is very probably wrong. The only way of discovering the limits of the possible is to venture a little way past them into the impossible. Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic."
